Preventing Child Sexual Abuse and the Stop It Now! Helpline (presented by Tom Squire)

10 am – 12 noon

Session Summary:

This webinar will help participants understand the issues surrounding child sexual abuse, the thought processes of perpetrators and the importance of our work. The session will cover:

- The scale and nature of child sexual abuse in the UK
- The process through which adults commit sexual offences
- The public health model of child sexual abuse prevention
- The Stop It Now! helpline
- Developing secondary prevention: LFF's deterrence campaign and online resources.

Tom Squire MA, BSc, Diploma in Probation Studies is Clinical Manager at the Lucy Faithfull Foundation, where he has worked since 2007. Before joining The Lucy Faithfull Foundation, he worked within the Probation Service. Tom undertakes specialist risk assessments for a range of agencies, and provides training, advice and consultancy to other professionals. He provides clinical support to the Stop It Now! Helpline. Tom plays an important part in promoting The Lucy Faithfull Foundation's deterrence campaign regarding the viewing of indecent images of children and, in 2018, he led on the development of an online forum for family and friends of those who have sexually offended online.

Understanding Problematic Sexual Behaviour in Young Children (presented by Dr Ian Burke)

1 pm – 3 pm

Session Summary:

This webinar will explore the topic of problematic sexual behaviour (PSB) in young children. Starting with an overview, the webinar will:

- Outline the aetiology of problematic sexual behaviour
- Discuss what is healthy sexual behaviour versus what is problematic and concerning
- How we address these behaviours.
- The webinar will then use Dr Stephen Porges' Polyvagal Theory to help us understand the specific needs of children displaying PSB who have experienced their own trauma.

Dr Ian Burke is a Registered Clinical & Forensic Psychologist (HCPC) and Chartered Psychologist (BPS). He joined The Lucy Faithfull Foundation in 2020 where his work focuses on the provision of assessment and interventions relating to problematic sexual behaviour in children and their families where trauma is a significant contributing factor. Before joining LFF, Ian worked with Forensic CAMHS and with Action for Children's High Intensity Placement Support Service for Looked after Children. Ian also has extensive experience working as a Military Psychologist with the Irish Defence Forces.
